Confesses To Slaying Girl; Called Off Marriage

Helen Drachman, The Victim

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The horrifying thought of the girl he loved lying cold in death—death by his own hands—alone in an unfrequented country road—police say, is responsible for Chris Connell today being held in the Trumbull county jail at Warren formally charged with murder.

"I could not bear the thought of her being there alone," Police Chief Watkins says Connell declared in confessing that he had stabbed Helen Marie Drachman, pretty Danish sales girl, to death with his pocket knife because she told him she "had changed her mind" about marrying him and bled the body in a culvert in the lonely country road.

Connell's alleged confession came soon after Chief Watkins had confided him with the report of a handwriting expert asserting that a note received by the chief last Friday directing him where to find the body, and samples of Connell's writing were identical.

Connell was turned over to Trumbull county authorities because the culvert in which the body was found and where the girl is believed to have been stabbed to death is located in that county. Connell is chauffeur for a wealthy Youngstown family.

In his alleged confession, Connell is said to have stated that he had been engaged to marry Miss Drachman in October. That on the night of May 31, she had called him by telephone, asking to meet her at a bus station. They rode until they reached the scene of the murder where they left the machine. As they walked along, he told her that she had changed her mind about marrying him and admitted having been intimate with other men.

Beside himself with rage, Connell is declared to have said that he drew his knife and stabbed her half a dozen times. He then took off his linen duster, tied it over her head and thrust the body into the culvert, where it remained a week before being found by officials who followed the direction of his note.

Thousands Left Homeless By Floods

Moonshine Men Open Campaign Of Terror

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 12.—(By Associated Press)—The campaign waged in Pittsburgh district against bootleggers and recently extended to fashionable road houses has resulted in a terrorist organization being formed for reprisal existence of the "moonshine men" said to be operating for the protection of bootleggers and moonshiners. The victims of the organization's activities, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Gardaski, of Imperial, a suburb, were dragged from their beds by a band of black robed and hooded men, tied to trees in KANSAS CITY, MO., June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The crest of the flood waters which for four days have covered the eastern half of Kansas and Northern Oklahoma, virtually has passed today, leaving a toll of seven known dead, many missing and property damage aggregating several million dollars. Thousands of persons made homeless when the flood swept through their homes, are being cared for in public buildings and private homes.

Railroad service to several cities in Kansas is demoralized and at least two cities virtually are cut off from communication. Six miles of St. Louis-San Francisco tracks south of Arkansas City, Kansas, is out and bridges between Arkansas City and Wichita on the Midland Valley Railroad, are reported gone.

Arkansas City, the city hardest hit by the flood waters of the Arkansas River, is under martial law.

In the low lands relief work is well under way. It is estimated that Miss Blossom Martin, 24 (above), pretty nurse, was strangled to death, police say, by Eleiza Lazade. Filipino (shown handcuffed below). The murderer took the body from up-town New York, down through Broadway's crowds and to a Staten Island ferry. As he attempted to throw it overboard, police nabbed him. The Filipino was a servant in a doctor's office where Miss Martin worked, police say.

CAPTIVES ARE UNHARMED

TSAOCHWANG, June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Eight captives, the last of the foreigners kidnapped by Chinese bandits who held up the Shanghai-Peking express train near Suchow May 6, and held up at the Paitshiki Mountain headquarters of the bandits since then, were released today.

The eight released were:

Americans

Major Tinger, U. S. A., ordnance department, Manila, home Berkeley, Calif.

Leon Friedman, Chicago, owner of China Motors Corporation, Shanghai.

John B. Powell, Hamilton, Mo., publisher of Weekly Review, Shanghai.

Lee Solomon, San Francisco, Shanghai agent of the Block Company of San Francisco.

British

Fred Elias, broker, Shanghai; Ronald W. Rowland, Birmingham, England, manager Reiss and Company, Tientsin.

French

Emil Gensberger, broker, Shanghai.

Italian

R. D. Musso, Shanghai, lawyer, capitalist, adviser to the Chinese government.

Chinese bandits numbering more than 1,000, derailed and robbed the Shanghai-Peking express on the Tientsin-Pukow Railroad near Suchow early Sunday morning May 6. The outlaws fired through the windows of the train to intimidate the passengers and crew. Joseph Rothman, said to have been a British subject, was killed.

The foreign passengers were routed from their berths in their night clothes, herded together and driven towards the mountain retreat of the bandits. The women captives, except one, soon becoming a severe burden, were released and found their way back over the rough roads as best they might. Among the women prisoners in the train raid was Miss Lacey Aldrich, sister-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and her traveling companion, Miss McFadden.

Harding May Ask Modification Of Dry Act On Foreign Ship Liquor

NEW YORK, June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The United States public health service designated by the treasury department to fix the amount of liquor to be allowed crews of foreign ships which sailed for this port before the new prohibition regulations became effective June 10, refused today to grant a permit for the release to sailors on the French line steamer Paris of the two litres of wine prescribed as a ration by French law.

President's Father Celebrates Seventy-Ninth Birthday

MARION, O., June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Dr. George T. Harding, father of the president, was the happiest man in the world today. He spent the morning in bed, and after a hearty breakfast, drove to the Marion Star building, where the president's newspaper is located, and prepared to receive congratulations. For today Dr. Harding is celebrating his seventy-ninth birthday. Just three years ago today, he recalled as he came into the Star's editorial room, he was perhaps the happiest man in the United States for his son had just been nominated as the standard bearer of the Republican party.

"I'm a pretty good man," Dr. Harding commented as the "force" of the Star congratulated him. As is his custom each day he came into the city room of the Star, the first thing on his arrival at his office and proceeded to read the morning papers, commenting briefly on the night's news.

"You don't need to tell me the world is not better," he said. "I know better." He commented as he finished reading the papers. He then began to reminisce about his boyhood days spent on a farm near Blooming Grove, where the president was born. Asked how he had kept in such a good state of health, for he is seldom ill, he declared that "eating rye bread and oatmeal" was the secret for, he said "that keeps the arteries clean."

Congratulatory messages from all parts of the country came to his office today. Dr. Harding seemed most pleased at those received from comrades with whom he served in the Civil War. Citizens of Marion in large numbers called at his office to personally congratulate him.

Parades, Dances, Carnival For Grottoes

CLEVELAND, O., June 12.—(By Associated Press)—At its only business session of the day the supreme court of the mystic order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm, of Harold M. Marions of Toledo, supreme grand monarch, this morning, his elevation in rank, as well as most of the other elections, came automatically.

Harry W. Ordway, Chicago, became deputy grand monarch and Anthony P. Itiner, St. Louis, grand chief justice.

C. N. Colton, Rochester, N. Y., was re-elected grand treasurer.

Judge Frederick P. Walther, Cleveland's only national officer of the grotto, became grand keeper of the archives. Sidney D. Smith, of Hamilton, N. Y., was re-elected grand secretary. George A. Treadwell, New Orleans, became grand master of ceremonies. George J. Brenner, of Saginaw, Mich., succeeded to the rank of grand orator, formerly held by J. G. Walther, and John A. Berdick, of Brooklyn, N. Y., became grand keeper of the grand library. Libby, of Washington, D. C., was elected grand standard bearer. Edwin H. Orr, of Boston, was elected grand marshal, and Charles E. Minsinger, Portland, Ore., grand tichenist. Lamar Field, Montgomery, Ala., became grand steward. Joseph Seiber, of Akron, Ohio, was elected grand venerable prophet.

CLEVELAND, O., June 12.—(By Associated Press)—Competitive dills, night street dancing and a midnight carnival and parade were the feature events on today's program of the three-day convulse of the Mystic order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm.

Children drill team competition was set for this morning, with the Grotto patrolling for honors in drilling this afternoon. The evening program calls for a massed band concert and street dance. The pavement on East Sixth street from Superior avenue to Lakeside avenue will be roped off and waxed, and it is expected that thousands will take their turn shuffling on the asphalt.

No particular route was picked for the carnival and parade.

A committee appointed yesterday to consider the proposal of Grand Master E. Craig Polonsky of Richmond, that the Grotto undertake to educate the nation's crippled children after the Shrine has cured them, was ready to make its recommendation.

Ruling Favors Workmen

COLUMBUS, O., June 12.—(By Associated Press)—Workmen who elected to go into the courts for compensation for injuries sustained in the course of their employment, instead of accepting the scheduled rates from the industrial commission, are given greater latitude for grounds of action by a decision of the supreme court today.

The finding was made in the case of Hannah Fender against the Ohio Automatic Sprinkler Company, of Youngstown, who was injured while operating a punch press. The court of appeals held for Miss Fender, and the company took the case upon error. The supreme court affirmed the judgment of the lower court.

The decision holds that an employee does not have to show in cases where suit is brought, that there was a specific violation of a safety requirement but in the guarding of machinery, but that citation of a general violation constitutes a basis of action, with the question of proof as to whether a specific violation was made resting upon the jury.

This finding overrules the Patton case and the Sniegowski case, both legal milestones in compensation litigation.

Judges Robinson, Jones and Matthews dissented in the opinion, which was concurred in by Chief Justice Marshall and Judges Wamamaker and Day.

Peasants Start Counter Revolt Typhoon Causes Heavy Damage

MANILA, June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Thirteen lives were lost and a large area was laid waste by a typhoon on the Island of Samar, according to messages received today from constabulary headquarters there. The report said that in seven towns, 95 per cent of the houses were blown down and that the homeless thousands were threatened with famine.

BELGRADE, June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Peasant revolts against the new Bulgarian regime are reported throughout the country, dispatches from Sofia say. In the neighborhood of Plevna, the revolt has assumed serious proportions, it is declared, and a force of 10,000 is said to have been surrounded. Fresh troops have been dispatched to this locality.

Dispatches say that the new government has ordered the mobilization of all reserve officers and officers of younger classes. Volunteers are called for.

Messages to newspapers here say the peasant revolt has been started by Alexander Botev, former president of the Sobranje and Nedelka Atanasoff, former minister of communications, who have fled from the capital and raised a force of 7,000 peasants in the neighborhood of Radomir, where fighting has occurred against the government troops. A rising among the inhabitants of villages east of the capital has been organized by Deputy Tominkoff.

It is rumored here that the Bulgarian minister at Prague, M. Baskaloff, is preparing to return to Bulgaria to help the agrarian party against the new government, also that former Premier Stamboulski is preparing to march on the capital at the head of 20,000 peasants.

Tangled Legal Row Over German Property

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Canada and the United States have developed one of the most tangled legal points over the question of German property seized during the war, that the alien property custodians of the two countries have yet tackled.

A delegation of Canadian officials and Secretary Hughes are meeting here today to disentangle the skein. The problem arises out of the fact that Canadian Pacific Railway property which was owned in part by Germans was confiscated by the Canadian authorities. The securities, however, originally issued against the property were held by Germans resident in the United States and thus the securities came into the possession of the Alien Property Custodian of the United States government.

Science To Act As Solomon In Dispute

CHICAGO, June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Scientists today attempted to determine which of two women is the mother of Lenora S. Felicia, four years old. Judge Joseph B. Davis, who is emulating King Solomon in hearing the dispute of two women over who gave birth to the little girl, called in physiologists and medical experts. The experts will examine the features and blood of the child and sur-stitute the modern science for the cunning of Solomon in naming the mother. Mrs. Julia Wasson and Mrs. Nicholas Lenz are fighting a legal battle over Lenora Felicia. Both claim to be blood mothers and each assert that the other's claim to her is based on the fact of temporary custody for nursing after birth. Judge Davis today refused the plea of Stewart B. Krohn, attorney for Mrs. Lenz to let the child choose its mother.

Dry Navy Boat Has Battle With Rum Boats

DETROIT, MICH., June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—A boat of the "dry navy" jumped into port late yesterday, taking on water through leaks in bow and stern, but none the less a victor in her first clash with the "mosquito fleet" of the Detroit River rum runners. It was the government speed boat P-103, with a rum launch containing 100 cases and 20 kegs of beer in tow, that battered her way through ten rum speedboats that harassed her, snatched at her liquor prize and attempted to sink her under G. A. Vandusen in the government boat sent them scurrying for cover with several shots from his revolver. The rum launch launched had made a dash from Fighting Island in Canadian waters to Hogan's Alley, a favorite American terminal for contraband liquor at Ecorse. The rum boat bent the P-103 to shore but her skipper did not have time to tie up to the dock before the P-103 was alongside. The rum boat skipper escaped.

Vandusen had taken the rum launch in tow and was starting up the river with it when "mosquito fleet" appeared. The rum boats swarmed on every side. The speedcraft of the attacking fleet would dash straight at the P-103 and then skid, nearly upsetting both boats.

A long grey rum boat, faster than the others, pursued these harrying tactics for a while, then becoming bolder, dashed into the harbor, one ramming the P-103 head-on, jamming the metal bow of the government boat and splitting a plank forward, just above the water-line.

This was Vandusen's cut. He drew his revolver and fired through the gray craft whereupon her skipper fled.

Plainly showing the marks of battle and partly awash from leaks resulting from the encounter, the P-103 reached the federal docks, her prize, the seized rum launch ahead. The launch was barely afloat, partly due to its heavy load and partly because of the water taken on during the "battle" in which the rumrunners attempted vainly to snatch the prize from the dry agents' possession.

Cantree Sentenced To Jail

Arrested and brought before the Probate court, Tuesday, by Constable Frank Murphy, of Bloomington, was a charge of contributing to the delinquency of Ellen Smith, 18 years old, Omar, W. Va., girl, Newell Cantree, 26 years old, Scioto Furnace clay miner, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to jail for 90 days by Judge Gilliland under his plea of guilty.

At the hearing the girl, who is rather comely, told the court that Cantree forced her to leave her home in Omar, W. Va., under threats of violence early last April and that they had since been living together as a married couple at Scioto Furnace where Cantree was employed. The girl, who is charged with delinquency, was ordered held pending word from her relatives in West Virginia.

Alleges Cruelty and Neglect

Alleging neglect and cruelty, Mollie Caldwell, Waverly, seeks divorce and alimony with custody of their two minor children, aged 16 and 15, in an action instituted in the Pike county Common Pleas court against Jacob Caldwell, now living on Walnut street, East Portsmouth, whom she married in June, 1907.

Through Attorney George H. Nye, Jr., the plaintiff says that Caldwell by reason of his idleness and dissipation has willfully failed and neglected to support her and their children and that she has been abused and even threatened to kill her. The wife further says that she is the joint owner with the defendant of a farm situated in Jackson township, Pike county, containing 80 acres and she asks that he be divested of all interest in the premises.

Taken To Athens

Mrs. Maud Kuhlman, 19 years old, 1822 Dexter avenue, who was adjudged insane at an inquest held recently in Probate court and ordered committed to the Athens state hospital for treatment, was taken to the institution Tuesday. Mrs. Kuhlman, a bride of three weeks, slashed her husband, William Kuhlman on the back of the neck with a knife a week ago when he returned home in an intoxicated condition. She declared she did not want to live with Kuhlman.

Makes General Denial

The answer of the defendant to the suit of the First National Bank against Harry J. Sheaman amounts to a general denial. The answering defendant through Attorney S. A. Skelton says that he is in possession of the premises in question by virtue of a certain lease assigned to him by one Isadore H. Goodman under date of Sept. 27, 1921, and declares since he has occupied the property he has tendered the rents in the amounts and at the times provided and fixed in the lease but claims that the plaintiff has refused to accept the same. He asks that the petition be dismissed.

Hempstead Academy Adopt Resolutions Concerning Controversy Over Chiropractors

At a meeting of Hempstead Academy yesterday afternoon, a committee was appointed which prepared resolutions concerning the action of Governor Donaher, and which were unanimously adopted by the Academy. The resolutions have been sent to the governor, and members of the Academy here say they express their position fully concerning the matter. The resolutions are as follows:

To His Excellency, Governor, Columbus, Ohio.

Sir: By direction of Hempstead Academy of Medicine, in regular session, composed of the licensed physicians of Scioto county and on behalf of the licensed physicians of Ohio, we herewith present to you and to the public at large our attitude toward your recent action in exercising executive clemency on behalf of a convicted chiropractor, now confined in our county jail.

The first law requiring state registration of physicians became effective in 1896 and all then in active practice complied with its provisions. Lawyers, dentists and veterinarians and schools teachers were under regulation by license before those on whom were dependent the lives and health of the people. Since then nurses, security salesmen and others have been brought under license by various acts of the general assembly. Were these laws enacted for the benefit of these different groups? Of the public, but for the benefit of the public, uninformed in such matters, protecting them against impostors and charlatans.

Some years later, there had grown up a new group of healers, each begging for recognition under the law. In December, 1914, a conference was called at Columbus, to which were invited and at which were present representatives of all the various types of healers. Allopaths, homeopaths, eclectics, osteopaths, chiropractors and others. All the phases of practice were fully discussed and it was agreed by this conference to recommend to the next general assembly, amendments to the law to meet the developments of the preceding eighteen years. The Platt-Elis bill, embracing these recommendations was enacted by the next general assembly and became a law in April, 1915, providing for the registration of some fifteen groups of limited practitioners.

In its wisdom, the legislature has correlated all the laws relating to the care of the sick under the direction of the state medical board and has placed the responsibility of licensure and enforcement under its control. Some eight thousand doctors, two hundred chiropractors and varying numbers in all the other cuts have been licensed and no complaint has been made except from those unqualified and unworthy.

There has been, however, a number of would-be chiropractors, who either could not or would not qualify under the law, who have combined to cripple, defeat and defy its enforcement and for eight years, they have exhausted every subterfuge that evil lawyers could invent to delay and defeat the law, until every court up to the supreme court of the United States has upheld its constitutionality.

Under this law a student must have the equivalent of a high school education and spend seven full college years in school and hospital service before he can be licensed in practice in all branches of medicine and surgery. A chiropractor can be licensed after eighteen months' residence at a chiropractic school.

In defending your position in the public press you have gone out of your way to give a veiled thrust at the diagnostic ability of the medical profession. Now, be candid, if you were deathly sick, would you seek a diagnosis of your case from one who has spent from seven to ten years of study in one of our scientific universities or from one who has spent eighteen months in a commercial institution for profit?

It is our belief that most of the contentions against the law of these would-be chiropractors, has arisen through propaganda from low grade chiropractic schools, whose graduates have found themselves unqualified to meet their reasonable educational requirements and who have encouraged their graduates to enter Ohio in defiance of its provisions.

A short time since, all injunctions and court proceedings were dissolved and the hands of the state medical board were released and the medical practice set stood supreme between the people and the unlicensed designers.

Four are now confined in the Scioto county jail rather than pay a moderate fine assessed by a duly established court, after a fair trial, for practicing without a license and now pose as martyrs and victims of an "un-American law."

One of their designing propaganda lawyers, now presents to you the father of a child, who for a year or more has had tuberculosis of the hip and implores you to abrogate this law which has stood every test of legality, set aside the court findings and you have complied and directed the sheriff to permit one of these courtiers to do the very thing, in jail, for which he is incarcerated.

Had you made inquiry you would have learned there were some two hundred registered chiropractors, any of whom would have given spinal adjustments to this child and that she must pass the door of a registered chiropractor to reach the jail. In this act of executive clemency, of which you, only, are endowed, you offend the sensibilities of not only every licensed practitioner of whatever type, but of every law loving citizen, cripple the courts, prostitute justice and establish a precedent, which, if followed, will replace civil liberty, with the condition now prevailing in Russia.

We herewith register with you our solemn protest against your action. J. G. LOCKE, M. D., President, Hempstead Academy of Medicine. WM. A. QUINN, M. D., Secretary, Hempstead Academy of Medicine. JOSEPH S. RARDIN, President, Ohio State Medical Association.

PROBE ORDERED AT CAMP SHERMAN

(Special to Times)
(Washington Bureau Portsmouth Times)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.—Protests by leaders of the Disabled Veterans of the World War, an organization of ex-service men today brought an order from Director Frank T. Hines of the Veterans' Bureau for a thorough investigation of conditions at the vocational training school for veterans at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio.

O. W. Clark, national rehabilitation chief of the Veterans' Bureau, has been ordered to Chillicothe by Hines to conduct the probe which will include inquiry into the activities of those in charge of the school.

Complaints against the Camp Sherman school were made by G. H. Cook of Buffalo, national commander of the Disabled Veterans of the World War and Raymond A. Lasagne of Cincinnati, national adjutant of that organization. They urged Hines to close the school because of alleged inefficiency in the training of veterans sent there for rehabilitation. Specific charges were that the agricultural branch of the vocational school is poorly equipped, indifferently instructed and generally inadequate. Ex-service men now in training there were said to be dissatisfied because of the quality of training they were receiving.

Both Cook and Lasagne hold the opinion that Clark, who went to Chillicothe from Cincinnati, where he has been stationed, will order the vocational school closed after investigating conditions there.

E. G. Dexter, superintendent of the school has been charged with inefficiency in petitions sent to Senators Willis and Fess and signed by a number of ex-service men now in training at Camp Sherman, asking Dexter's removal.

Among the charges against Dexter are that of antagonizing the trainees by arbitrary and unreasonable rules, of spending money for swimming pools and reading rooms which should have gone for such farm implements as plows, ligatures and other equipment for instruction.

The Chillicothe school was established a little more than a year ago as part of a plan of former Director Chas. R. Forbes to open "universities" for ex-service men, throughout the country. Camp Sherman was selected as an experimental point and the vocational school there was the only one opened, as Congress balked at the heavy expense involved in the nation-wide plan.

It is said only about 68 veterans have completed the course of training at Camp Sherman thus far. At the time of its adoption, the plan to open the school was criticized by Senator Simeon D. Fess, then a member of the House of Representatives.

Crops To Be Shy, Scioto Countians

Will Pay More For What They Eat

Washington Bureau Portsmouth Daily Times

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.—Special To Times—Ohio farmers, according to the official forecasts of the United States Department of Agriculture, made public today, will this year produce less bountiful crops than were harvested last year and for several years back.

This means, according to federal experts, that Scioto county citizens will be required to pay more for what they eat next winter. The only grain of comfort they have to offer farmers is a noticeable tendency upward of the prices now being asked for farm products, and they anticipate that what is lost in production in the country will be compensated by larger returns from the cities.

With prospects of a winter wheat crop of 32,207,000 bushels, compared with a yield of 35,300,000 bushels last year, Ohio farmers are today receiving one cent less per bushel than they were getting last year. This condition, the Department of Agriculture says, is certain to be changed when the full of-fact of adverse climatic conditions becomes known. The nation's total production is off about 6 per cent, compared with last year's output, in this respect Ohio being somewhat better off than the average of the states.

Ohio started off this year with an estimated production of about 40,000,000 bushels, but bad weather and pests have curtailed this estimate. It is not expected by federal agents that it will be necessary to revise downward its present figures.

A heavier output is noted by federal observers for oats, which are predicted a yield in Ohio of about 50,720,000 bushels this year. This compares with an output of 59,744,000 bushels in 1922.

This means, according to government statements, that Ohio farmers are going to make a clean-up on this crop this year, the prevailing price offered, 85 cents, being five cents greater than was being paid for Ohio oats last year.

This increase is accounted for by the fact that Ohio this year is giving in oats 8 per cent more acreage than last year. The yield is about 10,000,000 bushels under the average for the past five years.

It is predicted by government agents that the apple crop in Ohio will be about one-fourth less than last year. The peach crop has suffered severely from backward weather and other adverse influences and will, say government forecasters, scarcely reach 60 per cent of the average output.

Hay is about 2 per cent under last year's yield, with prices ranging somewhat higher.

Rye and barley, as indicated by condition reports, will bring the farmer less in bushels but more in money, is the way the government works out the present situation.

Recent surveys show that, despite many drawbacks, there will be increased acreage devoted to gardening in Ohio this year. Confronted with restricted yields in the heavy cash crops, farmers are trying to make up the deficiency by producing more abundantly along other lines. Promise of better prices is a strong incentive, says the government review.

Recent studies by federal agents of price movements warrant them in predicting generally higher prices for all farm products. Short crops will have a natural effect, they say, but the farmer is paying higher wages and more for his supplies and he must recoup his losses and outlays from those he is trying to feed.

In many sections of the country farmers are in less fortunate position than those of Ohio. Potato districts are suffering from backward weather and much replanting is said to be necessary. Districts where record yields are the rule this year will end a greatly diminished output to market, declares the government.

Makes Bed On Railroad Track; Killed
ASHLAND, KY., June 12.—Funeral services were held Monday for Chester C. Rogers, 25, 1400 East Carter avenue, who was killed by a westbound C. & O. train at the Twentieth street crossing early Sunday morning. His body was badly mangled and was completely severed across the chest.

It is believed that Rogers became suddenly ill and sat down on the track to overcome his nausea. He probably was too sick to hear the train.

Rogers was employed in the sulphate building at the plant of the Ashland By-Product Company. His father is survived by his parents.

SOCIETY

Sunday afternoon Mrs. Jess Barber entertained at her beautiful summer home, the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Searls and little daughter Maxine, and sons James and Harland of Huntington, W. Va.; Misses Edith Atkins and Thelma Gunnos of Huntington, Mrs. G. H. Holeson, Mr. and Mrs. Ballard Sawyer of Portsmouth, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lundy, Mr. Willis Atkins of Syracuse, Kansas, and Mr. W. Shields.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Walz and children, Mary, Louise and Joseph Purdum, of Detroit, Michigan, will arrive here the latter part of the week for a visit with Mrs. Walz's sisters and brother, Mary, Mildred and John Purdum of 828 Eighth street.

W. E. Farmer of Pikeston was here recently as a business visitor.

Miss Mildred Purdum is spending a few days at Dressler's camp in Kentucky.

Miss Esther Sinsler will leave Saturday for Detroit, for an extended visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Farmer of that city. She will then return to her home at Norfolk, Va., and later be joined by Portsmouth friends at Ocean View and Virginia Beach, Va.

Miss Marie Noel of John street has gone to Athens, Ohio, to attend the graduation exercises of her Alma Mater, at Ohio University.

Misses Julia Deuchamp, Clarice Rhoades and Levis Patterson of Pikeston motored here recently and spent the day.

The monthly meeting of the Epworth League of Franklin Avenue M. E. Church will be held this evening at 7:30 in the church parlor. All members are urged to be present.

Miss Edna Marting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Marting, of Sunnyside, has arrived home to spend the summer with her parents. Miss Marting has spent the past year as a teacher in the Riverside School for Girls in New York City. On her way home Miss Marting visited in New Haven, Conn., and in Boston, Mass.

Miss Gladys Dunham is visiting in Pikeston with her aunt, Mrs. Mattie Argabright.

Miss Louise Glocker and Miss Dorothy Lillick, students of the St. Teresa's College, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., will arrive home this week to spend the summer vacation with home folks. Miss Dorothy Lillick will spend the week-end as the guest of Miss Rosemary Schumacker of Columbus, Ohio.

A seven o'clock chicken supper was served Sunday evening to Miss Marie Baum, Mr. Albert Roth, Mr. John Oellett and Mr. Fred Jeffords by Miss Anna Walter of the Boulevard.

The Joseph Spencer Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met last evening at the home of Miss Isabelle Kinney, on Waller street for the regular monthly session. The assistant hostesses for the evening included Mrs. J. P. Williams, Mrs. Elmer Smith and Mrs. Catherine Littlejohn. After the business meeting the members present enjoyed a social hour in the rooms that were with American flags. One of the beautiful flower arrangements was an American flag formed of red, white and blue flowers. At the close of the evening delightful refreshments were served.

Invitations to the banquet with which the Daughters of the American Revolution will celebrate their twenty-fifth anniversary, have been issued. The banquet will be held Monday, June 18th, at the Hotel Washington.

Miss Minnie Frank, of Ninth street, who has been employed in the Irving Drew Company office for the past nine years, has resigned her position, to make preparations for her marriage to Mr. Carl Dressler, which will be an event of this month. Miss Dorothy Dressler, a graduate of P. H. S., has succeeded Miss Frank at the Irving Drew Co. office.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Oldtown M. E. Church, West Side, will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Albert Demant, Galena Pike.

Mrs. Charles Windel motored to Chillicothe Saturday and had a very pleasant trip.

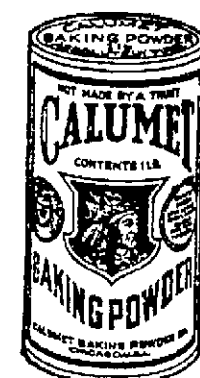

JOY OF HEALTH WOMAN'S RIGHT

Mrs. Evans Freed From Female Weakness by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan.—"I had female weakness with pains in my back, and I could not stand on my feet for any length of time. I was working in a factory but had to quit as I was too much on my feet. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me, and I can hardly believe it myself that I am well. Oh, it is a grand thing to have your health! I feel well all the time and can go out like other women and not feel that awful torture. When I took your medicine first I thought I should cure after the first bottle, but I am glad my husband kept me at it. I have had nine bottles and now I am well."—Mrs. JENNY EVANS, 1604 Lafayette Blvd., Detroit, Michigan.

If you are suffering from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or other forms of female weakness, you should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The reason is given in letters like these, and we have published thousands of them. You may expect that a medicine that has helped other women will help you. Try it.

Johnson Modifies His Views On Europe

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(By the United Press)—Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, has somewhat modified views on the European situation as a result of his contact with European people and statesmen, said Senator Spencer, of Missouri, on his return from his European tour.

Senator Spencer called on President Harding at the White House. He and Johnson called together on President Poincaré, of France, and Senator Johnson seemed much impressed with the French attitude. Senator Spencer told President Harding that Germany seemed prosperous and that France was united solidly behind Poincaré's reputation plan.

TOO FEW PEOPLE HEED DANGER SIGN

Observations of An Illinois Woman, Who Says Her Family's Good Health Is Due to Prompt Use of Black-Draught

Saint Joseph, Ill.—Speaking of the good health record of her family, Mrs. Asa G. Ollis, of this place, says that for symptoms of torpid liver, "the first thing we do is to take Black-Draught."

"It is the best liver tonic I have ever known," declares Mrs. Ollis. "and the rest of the family seem to feel the same way. They take it for sour stomach, indigestion and constipation."

"Too few people pay enough attention to constipation, which is the beginning of most ills, but I have used Black-Draught for constipation and it regulated me, and I can recommend it for that."

As Mrs. Ollis so truthfully says, constipation leads to a great deal of sickness among those who do not understand its dangers, and who neglect prompt treatment. The poisons which constipation forces your blood to re-absorb may cause much suffering, and greatly endanger your general health.

Theford's Black-Draught (purely vegetable) has been found to relieve constipation, and by stimulating the action of the liver, when it is torpid, helps to drive many poisons out of your system. Biliousness, indigestion, headache, and similar troubles are often relieved in this natural way. It is the natural way. Be natural! Try Black-Draught.

New Way to End Under-arm Perspiration

Beauty experts and health authorities advise care in the selection of perspiration preventives. Many commercial preparations contain powerful chemicals and harsh astringents which are injurious to the skin and clothing.

Dainty women have found that the best thing to use is Nul, a new discovery of a famous Chicago laboratory. Nul is absolutely pure and is guaranteed to be harmless to both skin and clothing. As a matter of fact, it leaves the most sensitive skin soft, cool, smooth and white no matter how often it is used.

It destroys every trace of perspiration moisture and odor and leaves the under-arms sweet, clean and dry. It dries so quickly you can use it whenever you want to—on a moment's notice if necessary. No after-treatment is necessary because Nul contains its own soothing cream and dainty talc.

You can get Nul at any drug store. It is very inexpensive and a few ounces will last for months. If you want to put an end to all perspiration troubles, be sure your druggist gives you Nul.—Advertisement.

SCORE DONAHEY FOR ACTION IN THE CHIROPRACTORS' CASE

COLUMBUS, O., June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Governor Donahey's recent action in permitting a little girl to be taken into the Scioto county jail at Portsmouth for treatment by a chiropractor, who is serving a sentence for practicing without a state license, was characterized by the Columbus Academy of Medicine last night as "an apparent endorsement of law infringement" in resolutions adopted by the academy and forwarded to the chief executive.

Adams County Man In Annex, Waiting Day Of Execution Is Given New Trial

Robert Davis, Seaman farmer, under sentence of death for the shooting to death of George Webb last October, will get a new trial, unless a ruling handed down yesterday by Court of Appeals remanding the case to the Adams county Common Pleas court for rehearing is reversed by the Supreme court.

Court of Appeals, which reviewed the case on error proceedings prosecuted on behalf of the defendant, held that because Fred Barnes, a brother of the widow of Webb, the slain man, was a member of the jury commission of Adams county, which placed the names in the jury wheel, from which trialmen were drawn, was an error, and that the accused is entitled to a new trial by reason of this fact.

Prosecuting Attorney J. R. B. Kessler and Attorney C. E. Roebuck, representing the state, have indicated their intention of filing application to get the case before the Supreme court for review of the Court of Appeals' decision in an effort to secure a reversal of the finding of the district court.

It is expected that the condemned man, who has been in the death annex at the penitentiary since a few days after he was sentenced, will be taken back to West Union within a few days, or as soon as a copy of the Appellate court entry is certified by the Clerk of Courts of Adams county to Warren P. E. Thomas of the big Columbus prison. Since Davis has been confined in the death cell, he has become father for the second time. He has two children, a son, and the daughter, born a few days ago. His execution was originally fixed for July 6. The prisoner is

Another touching case of needless child suffering was brought to light at the World's Mists during the demonstration of the remarkable medicine that has been bringing about such sensational results for people suffering from various common ailments.

Della Anderson, the little eight year old daughter of William Anderson, residing on rural Route 2 Portsmouth, had been delicate and sickly for some time. Hearing of the many astonishing things that were being done for sufferers at the demonstration Mr. Anderson brought the little girl to the lot and permitted Health Evangelist Dyar to give her a free dose of World's Tonic.

By the time the show was over and Mr. Anderson and the girl reached home, the child passed a monster parasite—a tape worm—24 feet in length and from that time steadily improved in health. Here's what Mr. Anderson had to say about it: "The girl was sickly all the time. She used to roll and toss at night and we had to give her physics continually. I spent half my income for doctor bills, trying the best physicians in Columbus and Cleveland. None gave any lasting relief. When I think that just one dose of World's Tonic is sold at Wurster's and other good drug stores at one dollar per large bottle and is demonstrated each night at the free minstrel show at 14th and Robinson Ave.—Advertisement.

Use Powellville Road

Heavy rainfall has caused the stretch of road between Franklin Furnace and Haverhill to become almost impassable to automobile traffic, and the situation led the Portsmouth Automobile Club to issue a warning to motorists yesterday, advising of the bad condition of the highway and then requesting all drivers traveling to Branton to take the Powellville road which leads off the brick highway and straight on to the Lawrence county capital.

It is said that a score of machines became stranded in the mud there yesterday and the day before and motorists will avoid much delay and inconvenience by keeping off the bad stretch of road, at least, until it becomes dry.

ORIENT, O.

Suffered for Two Years from Rheumatism—Now Well and Strong After Taking Ka-di-ok.

Mr. W. A. Lightfoot, a well-known farmer of Orient, O., Rural Route No. 2, is another accession to the army of enthusiasts who have publicly proclaimed their gratifying experience with Ka-di-ok, the sale of which remedy is increasing by leaps and bound every day. He says: "I have been a sufferer from rheumatism for over two years. I would have sharp, shooting pains all over my body; I felt miserable and despondent and unfit to work, although I did what I could to keep things going. I was subject to severe attacks of indigestion and was always more or less constipated. I had almost gotten to the point where I felt I would have to quit work entirely unless I got relief. About this time I heard about Ka-di-ok and started taking it with the result that today I have fully recovered. I eat, sleep and work without an ache or a pain of any kind. I don't even take cathartics, which I always had to do before. Ka-di-ok helped me to do a few days after I started taking it, and I'll never forget it."

Ka-di-ok can be obtained in Portsmouth at Fisher & Streich's Drug Store.—Advertisement.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—I have been a reader of your column for quite a while and I am asking you for some advice. You have helped others and I think you can help me. I am a married woman twenty-three years of age. I haven't seen my husband for three years and do you think I can get married without a divorce after being separated that long. If not, tell me where I can locate my husband. There is a certain young man who is in business in the city and I think the world and all of him and he says he loves me and has asked me to marry him. I have known him for some time but I saw him talking to another girl this afternoon, but he says he doesn't care for the other girls as I am the only one he loves. He walked away from the girl when he saw me. Do you think he cares for me or the other girls. He treats me with respect and has asked to take me out but I refuse to go with him. Do you think I should speak to him about being with the other girl. I know he was hurt about it. Please give me some advice as I am very unhappy and tell me what I should do.

A WORRIED GIRL.
No you can not get married without a divorce even if your husband has been gone for three years, but if you want to get married very badly I think it would be worth while to get a divorce. After your husband has been gone seven years you could get married without a divorce, but even then it is risky business because he might turn up some time or other. Having never seen your husband I wonder just how you expect me to tell you where he is. After being fooled once I think if I were you I would be just a little careful picking out a husband. You may think the world and all of a man and be sure that he loves you more than any one else, but are you sure of it? I don't know as there is any great harm in talking to another girl. If he loves you very much I don't think that one conversation with another girl will hurt your "Romance."

Dear Dolly—Kindly give me a list of things to put in a hope chest.
THANK YOU.
Anything in the way of household goods may be put in your hope chest, for instance, the bride-elect usually begins with linens, such as table linens, napkins, towels, bed-linen, and comforters, towels, old pieces, such as center-pieces, scarves for bureau and buffets or dollies for the same. She may also include kitchen utensils, silver, etc.

Dear Dolly Wise—I in reading your answers, I saw where a mother is very worried about her boy who went with the Ziedman and Tottie shows. The show is now in Fairmont, W. Va., but is leaving there this week. If she would get a Billboard Magazine every Thursday, she could keep in touch with the show.

CHOKUS GIRL.
Miss Dolly Wise—I can not keep from thinking of the letter in the Saturday night's paper signed Lone-some Bachelor, regardless to what he said that he did not want any one to answer it. He spoke of the rings of smoke from his pipe, dreaming of the girl he has never met. I am so glad there is one man in the world that anything cannot ruin in as he called it. I am also looking for the man of my dreams and I will never be disappointed in any young fellow for I will never be interested in fellows of today. Hope I will hear from him again.
NO FLATTER.
If folks are not interested in other "folks of today," it seems to me they stand a pretty poor chance of finding anyone they may care about. Customs and manners change with the times.

Leaving tomorrow morning at six o'clock, a fishing party will motor to Northern Michigan to spend three weeks camping and fishing. The party will include Mr. and Mrs. Albro King and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde King of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Walsh and son Jimmie, of Robinson Avenue, Harry Rockhold and mother, Mrs. Alfred Rockhold and sister, Miss Mabel Rockhold, nurse in the Shawnee City Hospital, Shawnee, Okla., Almond Drummond, of Clay Street. The party will be accompanied as far as Columbus by Mrs. Almond Drummond and son Wesley, who will remain there for a visit.

Miss Ruth Mann was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Burns of Linwood.
E. C. Hood and Russell Anderson left today for a motor trip through the state. On this trip they will visit the department stores in the larger cities in the state and get ideas for the local department store.
The meeting of Group 23 of the Trinity Ladies Aid Society will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bertha Price, Twenty-Fourth and Waller streets. Members are requested to bring a lunch with them, and at the close of the meeting they will go to the hills and have a picnic supper. All members are cordially invited to attend.
Dr. Ida Keyes has gone to Delaware, where she will attend the graduation exercises of O. W. F., as her daughter, Miss Helen Keyes, is a member of the graduating class. Dr. Keyes and daughter will motor home tomorrow.

Mrs. H. W. Creech of Seventh street is going to Bloomington, Indiana, where she will visit with relatives for several weeks. Mr. Creech who is connected with the Washington Hotel, will join his wife there later on.

Harold Hewitt and William Bostwick of Front street are home from a motor trip to Dayton. Mrs. Pearl Hewitt, Mrs. Mame Grady and Miss Dorothy Keller, who accompanied them to the Gen. City, remained there for a visit with relatives.

The Kinsfolk Club will be entertained tomorrow at the home of Mrs. W. J. Jenkins of New Boston. This club is composed of relatives from Wheelersburg, Sciotoville and New Boston, who assemble once each month throughout the year.

Mrs. Edward Brown and daughter, Norma, Misses Anna Pichard and Anna Daryl of Greenup were here recently shopping.

Mrs. Elizabeth Guthrie and daughter Alice of Front street have returned from a ten days' visit with relatives in Columbus.

Misses Elizabeth Gulkar and Ella Bergman presided as hostesses last evening at a charming bridge shower, in honor of Miss Florence Nunnemaker, fiancée of Mr. Lynn Padan, receiving a group of forty friends, in Miss Gulkar's home on Seventh street. Red roses used profusely about the rooms carried out the prominent colors. The bride-elect was presented with a number of dainty parcels, which when opened proved to be lovely little necessities, which will come in handy in her future home. The remainder of the evening was spent over interesting tables of bridge, at the close of which favors were given to Mrs. W. J. Vaughn of Huntington, a guest at the Nunnemaker home, and to Miss Ethel Lakeman. Later the card tables were arranged with pretty appointments for the serving of a refreshing ice course.

Miss Ruth Patton arrived yesterday from Columbus, where she has been a student at the Ohio State University, to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Patton, of Franklin avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. B. Sommerville of Ashland entertained a few friends from Portsmouth for noon dinner Sunday at the Run Right Inn. Those included in the country were Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Selby, Miss Mary Louise Selby, Miss Gladys Selby and guest, Miss Katherine Consolo, from Bedford, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Schaefer and son, Joseph, with many others, have left for the Grocers' outing, visiting the Thousand Islands, Alexander Bay and Niagara Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson of Washington, D. C., are visiting relatives and friends here and in Lucasville.

The following handsomely engraved announcements have been issued:
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen Damron announce the marriage of their daughter Catherine Rebecca to Mr. Howard Blackburn Campbell on Monday, June the eleventh nineteen hundred and twenty-three Siloam, Kentucky.

At Home after July first Summersville, West Virginia.

Miss Virginia Lile, who is secretary of the Scioto County Chapter of the American Red Cross, has left her duties to enjoy her annual vacation.

Mrs. John E. Kah and son, John, Jr., accompanied by Mrs. J. P. Hoerle and daughter, Hermine, left Sunday for Cleveland, where they will meet Mr. Kah, and from a motor party going to Pittsburgh, Pa., Buffalo, N. Y., and Niagara Falls, returning in about ten days.

Miss Lucile Sampson, a teacher in the local schools, has gone to her home in Pikeston.

Mrs. Eva McConnell, who has been visiting relatives and friends in Lucasville, has gone to Delaware, where her youngest son, Donald, will graduate this week from O. W. U.

Miss Eunice Roedel and Miss Elsa Roedel, sisters of Mrs. Elmer Ende, have returned to their home in New Bremen, Ohio, after a very pleasant visit at the Ende home on Waller street.

Yesterday evening in the assembly room of the Public Library before an audience of parents and friends, eighteen pupils from the piano class of Miss Doris Moore appeared in recital. Those who have been watching Miss Moore's career as a successful piano teacher in Portsmouth will note this is her third year in studies where Miss Moore specializes in the musical education of young people. Maintaining a busy schedule in Portsmouth, Miss Moore still finds time to appear in recital and her work as organist at Bigelow M. E. Church, and accompanist of the Community Chorus augments an active professional life.

The program exhibited the finished performance through intensive development of musical understanding, children acquire by careful method. With the modern "University System" as a basis, Miss Moore evolves an individual treatment of each pupil that is nothing short of scientific, since achieves the utmost without misdirection or waste. This no doubt accounts for the clean playing heard yesterday evening in a program of standard music. There was beautiful playing, too, and considerable musical talent was revealed. The program follows:

A Melody—Kins—Betty May Conklin.
French Child's Song—Behr—Helen Cameron.

The Fabrics' Lullaby—Martin—Sara Seuder.
The Dutch Doll—Mueller—Betty Davis.

The Dancers—Greenwald—Mary Kahmar.
The Chase—Friml—Martha Fredrick.

Dance Macabre (2 Planos)—Saint Saens—Misses Killen, Warnock, Altman, Meidenberg.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair
Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and causes it to fall out. The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and graceful), and is better than anything else you can use. Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and shiny, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified Shampoo at any drug store, or a few others will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure and ask for "Mulsified." Advertisement.

Scout Executive L. T. Henderson went to Columbus yesterday, that he might attend the graduating exercises of Ohio State University this morning. Mr. Henderson's brother, A. Lee Henderson, is a member of the graduating class. Before returning the executive will purchase some equipment for the new Scout Camp on the Little Scioto above Sciotoville.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Pfau of Hutchins street, have welcomed their daughters, Mildred and Hazel, home for their summer vacation. Miss Mildred Pfau is a teacher of Domestic Science in the public schools at Shelby, Ohio, and Miss Hazel Pfau an English teacher at Alliance, Ohio. They have established a camp on Brush Creek and the family will go there to spend a delightful summer.

Dr. Walter Braunlin of Ninth street left Monday on a visit to his three brothers, Dr. Edgar Braunlin of Dayton, O., Dr. Robert Braunlin of Huntington, Ind., and Dr. William Braunlin of Marion, Ind. He expects to be gone a week.

No Trouble to Keep Skin Free From Hairs.
(The Modern Beauty)
There is no need for any woman to countenance superfluous hairs, because with a paste made by mixing some powdered delatone with water it is easy to get rid of them. The paste is applied for 2 to 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This treatment will rid the skin of hair without leaving a bluish tint, but care should be taken to see that you get real delatone. Mix fresh as wanted. Advertisement.

NO. 8—WHEEL TOWN

Over the station were the words, "Wheel Town," in large gold letters.

"Well of all things," exclaimed Nancy as she looked out of the window of the Choo-Choo Express as it slowed up at another station in Choo-Choo Land.

Nick looked out of the window and saw what Nancy saw. A town where all the people were going around on anything but their feet.

Some were on bicycles, some rode in automobiles or street cars, some skated on roller skates, some rode on kiddie cars and the babies rode in perambulators as babies should, of course.

Over the station were the words, "Wheel Town," in large gold letters. "All out!" called Mister Punch, the conductor.

So Nancy and Nick scrambled down off the train and went in search of Ruby Joan, the lost rag doll.

"We'll ask the first person who stops," said Nick. "But everybody seems to be in such a hurry; no one is standing still a minute."

Just then a workman on roller skates who was pushing a wheelbarrow with a load of bricks in it, tripped and fell.

Away went the wheelbarrow, bricks and all. "Please, sir, did you see Ruby Joan, my rag doll?" asked Nancy. "Begorra and I didn't," answered the Irishman. "But, faith, whoever Ruby Joan is, your names will be Dennis if you don't get off those feet of yours at once."

He scrambled up and grabbed his empty wheelbarrow. "Here, jump in," he cried, "and I'll take you wherever you want to go. We are not allowed to walk on our feet in Wheel Town."

"Please take us back to the station then," said Nick thanking him. "Ruby Joan isn't here, I'm sure. She couldn't walk even, so how could she skate?"

Mister Punch was so surprised he nearly fell over when he saw them coming. "That's a fine taxi!" he called. (To Be Continued.) (Copyright, 1922, NEA Service, Inc.)

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES—THE BAD GIANT

Just a short distance away stood a very large leopard and it seemed just about ready to pounce on Jack. Of course the little adventurer was very frightened and he scrambled up a tree, near the tripod, as fast as he could. His pet dog, Flip, stood by this tree and barked loudly.

Jack managed to climb out on a limb to safety but he was afraid the leopard would hurt Flip. "Run away, Flip," he shouted, and the dog whined, but obeyed his master. Then the leopard slunk up to the foot of the tree and hid down on the mossy ground just beneath the legs of the tripod.

This gave Jack a sudden idea. "I'll try to capture the leopard," said the little adventurer to himself. "It's the only way I can get down out of here." Then he jumped and landed on top of the tripod. The long legs sank deep into the ground and pinned the leopard safe and sound. (Continued.)

Treasury Stands Pat; Refuses To Grant Foreign Ship Crews Their Wine Ration

WASHINGTON, June 12—The Treasury will stand pat in its determination to enforce rigidly the recent Supreme Court decision barring beverage liquor from territorial waters of the United States. It so informed Customs officers in new instructions today. Issued officials declared that further misunderstandings with foreign governments may be avoided. The French Government, through its Embassy here, had suggested that Treasury during the day, that each member of the crew of the liner, La France, in New York Harbor, should be allowed to have his wine ration of one-half liter a day as required by the French law inasmuch as the ship had left her home port prior to June 10, the effective date of the regulations. The Embassy took the position, Treasury officials said, that after the liquor stores of vessels had been sealed by Customs authorities, the former practice of opening the stores for issuance of the wine ration should be followed on this trip. Some representation was said to have been made by the Embassy that an understanding had been reached that such practice would be permitted.

General Denial Made

Assistant Secretary Moss, in charge of prohibition enforcement, immediately called the officers of the Prohibition Department together to trace down the statement credited to them, but was unable to find any one who would admit having made it. Mr. Moss later called the Embassy's attention to the provision of the regulations permitting the entry of ships into American waters with a liquor cargo if they had left their home ports prior to June 10, but explaining that such stores must be sealed. While the first international complication to result from the application of the Court's drastic construction of the Volstead act threatened serious consequences, most Treasury officials to-night were inclined to the view that the difficulties will "blow over" and that, hereafter, general compliance by the foreign ships with the American law may be expected. Treasury officials declined to discuss in any way published reports that some of the foreign ships now in American waters were supplying their crews with liquor rations. No official report, they said, has been received to that effect.

Kansas State Industrial Relations Court Knocked Out By Ruling

WASHINGTON, June 12—The Kansas law creating a State Industrial Relations Court was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court today so far as it attempted to fix wages in packing houses. Chief Justice Taft, delivering the decision in a case brought by the Charles Wolff Packing Company, of Topeka, Kan., said the law in that respect was in conflict with the Fourteenth Amendment, and provided the company of its property and liberty of contract without due process of law. "It has never been supposed since the adoption of the constitution," the Court declared, "that the business of the butcher or the baker, the tailor, the woodchopper, the mining operator or the miner, was clothed with such a public interest that price of his product or his wages could be fixed by state regulations."

"Since the adoption of our constitution, one does not devote one's property or business to the public use, or clothe it with a public interest merely because one makes commodities for, and sells to, the public in the common callings of which those above mentioned are instances. An ordinary producer, manufacturer or shopkeeper, may sell or not sell as he likes and, while this feature does not necessarily exclude business from the class clothed with a public interest, it usually distinguishes private from quasi-public occupations."

Compulsory Arbitration
The Industrial Court act was aimed to compel arbitration through a state board where decision was the final, in all essential industries, and thus insure continuity of production. Pointing out that the law permitted the employer who was dissatisfied with the decision of the Court to go out of business, and the dissatisfied workman to quit, provided he did not combine with others to do so or agree with others to induce them to quit, Chief Justice Taft said the essence of the statute curtailed the right of the employers on the one hand, and the employees on the other, to contract about their affairs.

"This is part of the liberty of the individual protected by the guarantee of the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment," he said. While there is no such thing as absolute freedom of contract, and it is subject to a variety of restraints, they must not be arbitrary or unreasonable."

Defended by State
While the law was directed to prevent strikes in those industries producing food, fuel and clothing, or in the transportation of such articles and brought under the Industrial Court all public utilities and common carriers, it was defended by the state in the case decided today on the ground that the preparation of food was affected by a public interest, and that it was within the power of the Legislature to so declare.

The decision divided business affected by a public interest into the classes—those carried on under authority of a public grant of privileges imposing the affirmative duty of rendering a public service demanded by any member of the public, such as railroads; those occupations regarded as exceptional, where the public interest attaching has been recognized from earliest times, such as keepers of lums, and business enterprises which, though not public at their inception, may fairly be said to have become such; where the owner by devoting his business to the public use in effect grants the public an interest in that use, and subjects himself to public regulation. The mere declaration by a Legislature that a business is affected with a public interest, the Court declared, is not conclusive on the question whether its operation is regulated on that ground is justified. The expression, "clothed with a public interest," as applied to a business, the opinion added, "means more than the public welfare is affected by continuity or by the price at which a commodity is sold or a service rendered."

Bumble Bee Brings Wreck To Autoists

CHESTER, W. VA., June 12—The sting of a bumble bee, which he suffered when he attempted to beat it off today, resulted in injuries to Carl Swisher, his wife and two children and the wrecking of an automobile in which they were riding. The bee had frightened Swisher's children. As he tried to drive it away he released his hold on the steering wheel and the automobile plunged over an embankment, turning over three times before it reached the bottom of the declivity. The occupants were bruised when they were thrown from the machine.

Three Injured As Hundreds Are Driven From Homes By Fire

NEW YORK, June 12—Three persons were injured last night in a fire that burned out a Brooklyn lumber yard, destroyed a factory building next door and threatened for a time to demolish several nearby tenement houses. All fire apparatus in the borough was called, while police reserves from half a dozen precincts were on the scene to keep back a crowd that collected to watch the spectacular blaze. More than 100 families were driven from their homes by fire. Damage was estimated at more than $200,000.

Held For Slaying Of Two Policemen

DETROIT, MICH., June 12 In a cell at police headquarters, Adam Drosch, arrested in connection with the slaying of two New Jersey policemen, is being held until requisition papers for his return to Newark are acted upon by Governor Grosbeck. Four Newark detectives, garbed in laborers and some captured Drosch at Belle Isle as he landed from a Detroit ferry boat. Drosch is wanted, according to the New Jersey authorities, in connection with the shooting of Peter Bodorski, a patrolman, in a Newark furniture house on May 11.

Propose New Belt Line Around Columbus

WASHINGTON, June 12—Proposals for the construction of a new belt railroad line around the city of Columbus, Ohio, at a cost of $11,000,000, were filed today with the Interstate Commerce Commission by the Columbus Belt Railway Company. By constructing 22 miles of line, the application said, the company will be able to connect up all the railroads now entering the city, decrease transportation costs, enlarge the industrial area in its environs and greatly expedite the movement of traffic. An annual gross revenue of $2,287,000 was estimated to be available from the moment of opening of the line, which would begin in Norwalk Township and end at Clintonville, both points in Franklin County, Ohio.

Deck Hands On Strike

GALLIPOLIS, OHIO, June 12—Packet steamboats on the Ohio and Kanawha Rivers, operating between Pittsburgh, Charleston, Gallipolis and Cincinnati are experiencing much delay by a strike of deck hands, who are demanding 75 cents per hour and board. In several instances boats have been held up at way landings, the crews becoming unmanageable.

Kohler Refused To Put Up Reward Ordered By Council

CLEVELAND, OHIO, June 12—After City Council passed over Mayor Fred Kohler's veto the ordinance providing a $10,000 reward for the capture of John L. Whitfield, alleged slayer of Dennis Griffin, Cleveland patrolman, the Mayor announced he would put up the reward. Consequently the city is not offering a reward, a previous one for $1,000 having been repealed by the new ordinance.

Mayor Kohler's announcement followed a ruling on the Mayor's question whether the ordinance could be effective. Law Director Paul Lamb pointed out that the statute provides that City Council has no power over appropriation of the city's funds, that being left for execution to the executive branch of the City Government.

The vote to pass the ordinance over the Mayor's veto came at the end of

What makes a good job of painting? A good painter, a good paint and a good color scheme. Of course, people for whom we have painted, houses will tell you that we are good painters. We know how to prepare a surface before painting it, how to mix paint that will best protect that surface and how to help you choose a permanent and beautiful color scheme. Our paint is made to order. That is, we mix Carter White Lead with linseed oil and turpentine and such colors as you choose in the proper proportions to suit all kinds of lumber, different exposures and atmospheric conditions. a stormy session at which epithets of "liar" and "dumb bell" passed freely between Councilman Herman Finkle, Republican Floor Leader, and the Mayor. Libel Is Charged Quoting remarks alleged to have been made by the Mayor when the ordinance was first passed that "no policeman don't need an incentive in the form of money reward to spur their search for this starlet," Mr. Finkle said: "I charge, Mr. Mayor that you have libeled every member of the police force with these remarks." The Mayor shouted his denial of the statements, saying he was misquoted. "Every word from you is correct," the Councilman shouted back. "You're lying and you know you are lying," shouted Mayor Kohler, interrupting the Councilman's remarks.

"I Didn't Know That You Taught Art Work"

There is scarcely a day passes but what some customer in our Art Shop, Second Floor, will make a remark similar to the one just stated. Sometimes they'll say, "I didn't know you made Wax Flowers," or "I didn't know you taught Lamp Shade making," or "I didn't know you carried all this material here." And so it goes in spite of the fact that we advertise this department it seems that frequently customers are surprised at the splendid assortments we carry and they oftentimes find that the very articles they have been writing away to Cincinnati or Columbus or Chicago for may be right here in our Art Shop.

Instructions Given Free

To show you how we can be of service in our Art Shop we mention the fact that our experts give free instructions in Lamp Shade making, Knitting, Crocheting, Art Embroidery Work, Basket Weaving, Flower Making and Wax Art.

This week especially we will be glad to give attention to school children who would care to receive instructions in any of the above arts and all we require is that materials used be purchased from the department.

So far as the Washington government is concerned, the action of the Allen Property Custodian is regulated by acts of Congress and there is no law on the statute books permitting the American government to confiscate securities or any other class of property with the idea of turning it over to anybody but lawful owners. Much of the Allen property may be held indefinitely in trust and dividends or other income yielded will be retained until Congress finally says what shall be done.

To give up the securities desired by the Canadians would mean confiscation of property held by the American government to compensate the owners some day and that would require authorization from Congress as well as an appropriation.

The legal experts of the American government do not see how they can decide otherwise since the law of Congress is so explicit on the subject of holding property in trust but the Canadian officials have thought it best to come here to argue the question in person.

Incidentally an erroneous impression had gone forth because the Canadian cabinet officers are dealing directly with the Secretary of State of the United States a precedent has been established, which, as one published report phrased it, "ignores Great Britain." The truth is the visit of the Canadian officials was arranged through the British embassy as have all other conferences in which Canadian authorities and the Washington government have participated. The part the British embassy plays is purely perfunctory and formal and the entire negotiation is usually carried on between the Canadian and American governments but until direct representation is specifically arranged and the British government notifies the American government to that effect the arrangements will continue to be made through the British embassy. In fact one of the arguments heard against Canadian representation is that it would cost the Canadian government considerable money to maintain a legation here while in all practical purposes direct conferences can always be arranged through the British embassy in which the Washington government gives maximum attention to the business of the Canadian government just as if the questions arising were to have been submitted through a Canadian legation. There have been sentimental questions raised, of course, which have a bearing on whether the Canadians should have a legation here but these naturally are matters upon which the Canadians themselves ultimately must pass though it is a fact the establishment of closer relations with Canada through a legation would be warmly welcomed here and there is every reason to believe the London government is not opposed to the step.

But the conferences now being held are in line with previous practice and do not imply any slight of the home government by the Canadians.

ATHENS, June 12.—(By the United Press)—Seven thousand Bulgarians and Macedonian Comitatists, fierce hill tribesmen, have penetrated into Sofia and are conducting a reign of terror in the capital according to unconfirmed advices from Salonica. The peasant, Alexander, leader of the armed bands, who are joining the counter revolution against the newly established Zankovs industry, is said to be master of the situation in the Bulgarian capital. Civil War is reported to be in full swing with supporters of the deposed Premier Stamboulsky everywhere victorious. Serbian troops were reported to have engaged in a border clash with the Comitatists in the Secemitz district, where 15 casualties resulted.

more than 3,000 persons are homeless. Twenty-five persons were reported unaccounted for but they are expected to be found when the many persons marooned by the water are freed.

Estimates of the damage in Arkansas City is placed at $3,000,000. Meager reports from Winfield, Kansas, almost entirely cut off from the outside world, estimate the damage there at between one and one-half million dollars.

Conditions at Wichita, Kansas, where four square miles of the city was flooded to a depth of three feet, damage there was estimated at more than $1,000,000.

Other property losses in Northern Oklahoma, were reported heavy. Six feet of water flowed down the main business street of Kaw City, Okla., yesterday, while citizens huddled on a hill south of the town. Citizens of Autwine took refuge in elevator lifts from which they were rescued by boats.

Train service throughout Oklahoma is demoralized.

Unidentified man, Arkansas City.

Heavy damage was sustained at the 101 Ranch near Ponca City.

The killing resented at the ranch were effected by Jess Willard, former heavyweight boxing champion. The big Kansan waded into many ponds rescuing women and children and livestock. In one instance he went down into deep water to cut loose two horses that had become entangled.

carps also served notice upon the Chinese government that the captives must not be harmed and released as soon as possible. Many Chinese captives remained on Pootzuku at latest advices.

San Francisco, Calif., June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—"Oh, thank the Lord," said Mrs. H. E. Pinger, mother of Major Roland W. Pinger, early today when informed by The Associated Press that her son had been released by his Chinese bandit captors.

"I was praying for that last night," Mr. and Mrs. C. Solomon, Jr., parents of Lee Solomon, another of the foreign captives released, were delighted with the news but were not surprised. Mr. Solomon said he received the cablegram from a business associate of his son in China last Wednesday saying Mr. Solomon's release was expected today.

tious at the session of the supreme council today. Grand Monarch Pelouze proposed that a fund of $500,000 be raised for vocational schools, by assessing each member $2.

Election of grand officers also was Indianapolis, Chicago, Boston, Brooklyn and Atlantic City are after next year's convolve.

A parade in which it is estimated that 20,000 uniformed members of 120 Grottoes participated featured yesterday's program of the thirty-fourth yearly convolve of the Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm—the "playground" of Blue Lodge Masonry.

The parades, which included 70 bands, various fire and drum corps, Grotto patrols, drill teams and other uniformed bodies, was one hour and twenty minutes passing a given point. It was said to be the largest and most picturesque ever seen in this city.

The thousands of brilliant uniforms of Arabic and Turkish design streaming along jump posts converted into palm trees, the scintillating, fizzes and turbans gave it the Oriental tinge that the playgrounds of Masonry assume.

Each state vied with one another on demonstration of its traditions and beauties. There were the Kentucky colonels, with a jockey and thoroughbred horses from the Blue Grass, and the corn fields of Iowa. Baroque also an important element, especially on the delegations from Brooklyn and Chicago.

Supreme Council Sits

The convolve opened formally yesterday morning with a meeting of the Supreme Council, which was addressed by Secretary James Davis and Supreme Grand Monarch Craig Pelouze, of Richmond, Va.

Movements were launched by Monarch Pelouze at the meeting for establishment of seven vocational schools throughout the country dedicated to orphaned children and for the raising of $500,000 fund with which to endow them, and to double the membership of the Grotto before the next annual convolve.

Outlining his plan for the raising of the vocational school fund, Marshall Pelouze said assessments of $2 for each member would not approximately $100,000, which could be increased by $10,000 contribution from the Treasury of the grand order.

Davis in Accord

Secretary Davis approved the plan and urged that a home be established for aged men and women in a climate where they could be out of doors at all seasons of the year.

The Ohio Grotto was near the head of the line and made an impressive appearance.

The superb drill team of Achbar Grotto in its black uniforms and bright green or blue sashes drew many cheers as it quickstepped, the precision of its maneuvers making a big hit with the crowd.

A. M. Ron, of Zanesville, sprang a novelty when his patrol and band appeared with every member wearing horn-rimmed glasses, with brown glass lenses.

Marion Gets Applause

Another delegation that got a large hand was the Kadgar, of Marion, in its maroon doublets, yellow socks and white spats.

O-ton-la-lu, of Toledo, injected a somber note when some of its members marched in long-flowing gray robes, giving them the appearance of something funeral.

Others that attracted attention were the Ormus, of Dayton; Olakhan, of Cincinnati, and El Karan, of Lima.

To Postpone Dry Parley

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Postponement of the proposed conference of state governors on prohibition enforcement until after President Harding returns from his western trip was announced today at the White House.

Meeting of several state legislatures and the unsettled question of using the army and navy in enforcing prohibition were said by officials to be factors causing the postponement. The decision, it was said, was not intended to be interpreted as meaning that the meeting would not be held later.

Prisoners Freed

Pootzuku headquarters of the bandits was Mrs. Manuel A. Verea, who refused to accept freedom and insisted on remaining with her husband. Mrs. Verea did not leave the bandit camp until May 20.

Besides those released today, the following captives were given their freedom at various times: M. O. Berub, Shanghai; Major Robert A. Allen, U. S. A., medical corps, Manila; Jerome A. Henley, Shanghai; Edward Elias, Shanghai; Theodore Sapsire, Shanghai; W. A. Smith, Manchester, Eng.; Manuel A. Verea, Guadalupe, Mexico, and the young sons of Major Allen and Pinger.

From the start the bandits did not talk of a ransom in money for their captives. That led many to believe the train hold up and kidnapping were the result of a pre-conceived plot instigated by certain Chinese political elements.

Brigadier General W. D. Connor, U. S. A., heading an international commission, has been investigating that as well as other phases of the affair.

After weeks of delay during which the brigands sent out certain of the foreign prisoners with "terms" for the release of the captives, it was finally agreed between the government and the outlaws that the outlaws were to be enrolled in the Chinese army and given six months back pay which they claimed was due them.

When that was done, the outlaws stated, they would free all of the prisoners.

During and preceding the negotiations, the outlaws demanded that the Chinese troops withdraw from the vicinity of the Pootzuku headquarters, threatening to execute some of the prisoners if the demands were not complied with. Although the foreign captives were not harmed, the brigands buried a number of Chinese prisoners over the cliffs, to their deaths as a "warning."

The train hold up and the kidnapping of a large number of foreigners aroused almost as much feeling throughout the world as did the famous Boxer outrages. The diplomatic

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 12.—Speculative uncertainty over the ultimate trend of business and securities prices was reflected in the narrow and irregular movement of prices at the opening of today's stock market. Rails were firm, Louisville and Nashville rising a point, California Petroleum which was under pressure yesterday snapped back 4 points this morning but Central Electric lost one point. Rubbers were weak in response to a report in tire prices, new low records for the year being established by Kelly-Springfield, L. S. Rubber and Goodrich off 1 1/4 to 2 1/2 points. Motors were heavy, Studebaker yielding one point, California Petroleum extending its gain to 2 1/2 and Phillips Petroleum advancing one point. American Ice jumped 2 1/2 points. Foreign exchanges opened irregular. Railroad shares continued their rise to higher ground but most of the industrials were heavy under the pressure of liquidation and short selling. Additional new low records for the year were recorded by Ajax Rubber, Pierce Arrow, Stumm Petroleum, Skelly Oil and Panhandle Producing and Refining. Sugars and equipments also lost ground. Marking up Southern Railroad to 37 1/2 a new top and gains of a point each in N. Y. Central, Reading, Southern Pacific, and "Katy" preferred imparted a steadier tone to the balance of the list before midday. Woolworth scored 1/2 point to 2 1/2, a new high for the year and International Harvester was pushed up two points. Call money opened at five per cent. Professional speculators for the decline succeeded in depressing prices of most industrial stocks in today's market, the buying power being limited largely to the railroad shares. Oils and rubbers were particularly weak, several shares in those groups establishing new low records for the year. Sales approximated 725,000 shares. The closing was heavy.

Resumed Dividends
NEW YORK, June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The American Smelting and Refining Company today resumed dividends on the common stock, declaring a quarterly payment of 1 1/4 per cent. The last dividend on this stock was in March, 1921, when $1 was declared. The quarterly dividend of 1 1/4 per cent on preferred also was declared.

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Canada, today declared its regular quarterly dividend of 1 1/4 per cent on preferred stock and also 1 1/4 per cent on preferred for the quarter ending March 31, 1921, on account of back dividends. Both are payable July 3 on stock of record June 20.

New Boston Thick With Candidates

With the time limit for the filing of their declarations as candidates for office but three days away, Friday midnight, the names of candidates and probable candidates for both the Republican and Democratic ticket at New Boston, are being announced.

Last night, Ben Adkins, meat dealer of Ohio avenue, New Boston, announced that he would oppose Mayor W. E. Newberry for the nomination for mayor on the Democratic ticket. Adkins came to New Boston three years ago from Ironton. Millard G. Dailey, Democratic councilman, will make the race for treasurer. He is expected to be the only one on the Democratic ticket for this office.

Two young men are mentioned as candidates for the nomination for village clerk on the Democratic ticket. They are Kenneth Taylor and Kepner Taylor.

On the Republican ticket, W. A. Adams, baker, and V. R. Herley, barber, are the only men who have announced their intention of seeking the nomination for mayor. Lawrence Rich, Frank Wolfe and Marion Poole are mentioned as probable candidates although some believe Poole will remain out of the mayor's race and seek a justice of the peace job.

Herbert Ricker, present treasurer, says he will not run again choosing to stand back and let someone else have a chance. No one person has been mentioned as being after the nomination for this office. At a Republican meeting scheduled for tonight, someone will be named probably for this office. For clerk, Russell Middaugh who has held the office for two terms will seek his third term. He will not have the field to himself, however, for it is rumored that Mrs. Ethel Craig, present treasurer of the Clay Township Board of Trustees, would oppose Middaugh for the nomination.

Both parties expect to have complete tickets for council with plenty of candidates for the council seats on both tickets. Dr. T. H. McCann, who has served two terms as Republican councilman has decided not to run again. It is said, New Boston now has a population of over 5000 and according to a new election law a candidate cannot run on the independent ticket in villages over 2500 population. This makes it necessary for candidates for New Boston offices to file their declarations for nomination in the primaries.

Another step towards the building of a United Brethren church in Nauvoo was taken Monday when Architect Wesley P. Hidenour was instructed to prepare plans for a church structure to cost about $25,000.

The Nauvoo U. B. congregation has been considering the building project for sometime and yesterday the building committee decided that it was time to have plans drawn, although active construction will not begin for sometime. The site of the church is a lot opposite the new school building in Nauvoo. The Nauvoo church has grown steadily under the pastorate of Rev. Carl Sweeney and the membership has reached a figure where a modern church home is needed. The congregation has been meeting in a room of the school house.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Mary E. Goldcamp

Mrs. Mary E. Goldcamp, widow of the late John S. Goldcamp, died Monday after an illness of eight days due to mucous colitis, and her death marks the passing of one of Ironton's pioneer residents and most estimable and lovable citizens. She was born Oct. 25, 1845 at Old Union Furnace, the daughter of Frank and Mary E. Triche. She was united in marriage to John S. Goldcamp on Feb. 12, 1871, and to this union twelve children were born, two having died in infancy and Miss Elizabeth Goldcamp passed away at the age of 22. Her husband preceded her in death fourteen years ago, having died March 2, 1900, but nine children survive as follows: F. E. J. Goldcamp, John X. Goldcamp of Ironton; Mrs. Edward F. Hannan of Ironton; Mrs. James McJont of Norwood, O.; Mrs. H. J. Loder of Columbus, O.; Mrs. Edward B. Bauer of Dayton, O.; Mrs. Frederick M. McPherson of Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. H. L. Mond of Wyoming, O.; and Mrs. Ollie G. Crossin, at home. Mrs. Goldcamp spent all her life in and around Ironton. She was a devoted member of St. Joseph's church, an active and pious Catholic. The deceased is survived by four sisters, as follows: Mrs. Isadore X. Goldcamp, Mrs. Joseph Goldcamp of this city, Mrs. Mary Cline and Mrs. Joseph Monick of Pine Creek, this county.

The funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock at St. Joseph's church with interment in Calvary cemetery.

Pennsylvania Trying To "Steal" Proposed Barge Canal; Ohio Congressman To Get Busy

(Special To The Times.)

(Washington Bureau, Portsmouth Times.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.—

Ohioans who favor one of the three routes proposed for a large canal to connect the Ohio River with Lake Erie, including that from Portsmouth to Sandusky, may have to win another stiff fight before steam shovels begin to throw dirt on such a project.

Gathering suspicion that Pennsylvania is trying to "steal" the canal and secure authorization for its construction by federal engineers between the Allegheny river and Lake Erie has been intensified in Ohio quarters by the endorsement of Senators Pepper and Reed of Pennsylvania for the latter route.

Representatives of Western Pennsylvania now in the capital deny any such intention. But the Ohioans argue that it is manifestly impossible for the federal government to dig two inland waterways to Lake Erie, one in Ohio and one in Pennsylvania, and demand to know just what Pennsylvania means by boosting the Allegheny River-French Creek route, as it is called.

Meanwhile army engineers, provided with ample funds by congressional appropriation, are proceeding on their surveys of the three routes in Ohio without regard for that suggested in Pennsylvania. By the time Congress convenes in December, they expect to have full data on the proposed linking by water of Portsmouth and Sandusky, or Cincinnati and Toledo, or Pittsburgh, Youngstown and Ashtabula.

Maj. Gen. Lansing H. Beach, chief of engineers, refused today to show the slightest interest in the report that Pennsylvania would attempt to have the proposed canal built between the Allegheny River and Lake Erie. His view is that until Congress has given authorization for a survey of that route, his engineers have no interest in such a project. He would not deny, however, that it was entirely possible that Pennsylvania members of Congress might wage a fight to build the canal within the borders of their state and win it.

"Internal dissension" among the Ohio advocates of the river-to-lake ditch is cited by some Pennsylvanians here as evincing general uncertainty among the business interests of the Buckeye state over the proper route for it. Extensive publicity has been given by Cincinnati interests to show that the canal should be built from there to Toledo, and pointing out alleged shortcomings in the other two Ohio routes. The assertion has also been made that only a very small portion of Ohio would be served by a canal connecting the Pittsburgh steel district with Lake Erie by way of Youngstown and Ashtabula.

When army engineers submit their report, they will give full data on each of the three Ohio routes, but will make a recommendation for only one. Advocates of the two routes which are slighted are expected to make a fight to displace the engineers' favorite for their own before Congress finally authorizes construction of the canal and appropriates money for it.

It is apprehended that failure of the Ohioans to agree will give Pennsylvania an excellent chance to push the claims of their route as a compromise, arguing that it is shorter than any of the Ohio proposals and therefore could be built more cheaply. The full influence of the Pittsburgh steel interests would undoubtedly be thrown into such a flank attack.

Ohio congressmen now in Washington have already expressed the opinion that supporters of the three routes in their state must "get together" unless they wish to weaken their cause by friction and give the Pennsylvanians a chance to run off with the much-desired canal.

How Do You Figure Baby Chick Loss?

Do you actually figure it in dollars and cents? Suppose 20, or 30 or 50 chicks from your hatches die. How much would these baby chicks cost you to replace?

Purina Chick Startena
(With Buttermilk)
is a real baby chick food. It is balanced to supply all the elements that the tender baby chicks require in the first few weeks. Buttermilk, which authorities specify as important for baby chicks, is one of the principal ingredients. The other ingredients in Startena blend with buttermilk to make a perfect growing ration.

Save more baby chicks and get early layers next year by feeding Purina Chick Startena and Baby Chick Chow on the double development guarantee. Give us your order today.

FLOWING GOLD

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Calvin Gray, enemy of Colonel Nelson, banker, hires three men to watch Nelson's activities in the oil fields. Gus Briskow strikes off and Gray visits him in his beautiful new home. Allie Briskow, daughter of Gus, falls in love with Gray but he loves Barbara Parker. Dad Briskow, Allie's brother, having been rescued by Gray from the hands of an adventurous gang, takes charge of the Briskow oil wells. He phones to Gray telling him that oil is expected on some land in which Gray has interest. Allie goes to spend a few days with Dad.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY
"Was that Buddy talking?" "It was, and he gave me some good news. He says that well on thirty-five is liable to come in any minute, and it looks like a big one." The speaker's eyes were glowing, and he ran on, breathlessly. "He says there's betting it will do better than ten thousand barrels." "Ten thousand barrels?" Briskow echoed.

"That's what he said. Of course, they can't tell a thing about it. Buddy's only guessing, but I haven't had a big well yet." Gray took a nervous turn about the room. "I'm going out on tonight's train and see it come in—if it does come in, I told Buddy to stop work; not to drop another tool until I arrived. 'Fatted for destruction.' I like the sound of that. 'Ten thousand barrels! Ho! I'll write this day for a million. Why, that lease will sell for a million. It was a mean end.' "Gray brought himself to an effort, hastily he kissed Mrs. Briskow's faded cheek and wrung her husband's hand. A moment later he was gone.

"Thirty-five," where Buddy was working, was only a few miles from the Briskow ranch, therefore the boy was able to meet his sister at Ranger and drive her directly to the oil field.

The ranch house seemed very mean, very insignificant to Allie, but she slipped into one of her old dresses and prepared the supper while Buddy straddled a kitchen chair and chattered upon ten thousand topics of mutual interest.

On the morning of Gray's coming Allie rode with Buddy over to thirty-five. It was a wretched, rainy day, and nothing is more bleak than a rainy day in a drilling camp. Work had been halted and the men were loafing in their bunk houses. Brother and sister spent the impatient hours in the mess tent.

Gray's trip from the railroad was more like a voyage than a motor journey, for the crew boys, usually lazy, were angry, terrified, and the whole flots was quaking through which his vehicle plowed him deep; nevertheless, he was fresh and alert when he arrived. After a buoyant greeting to Allie, he and Buddy inspected the well, then he issued orders for work to be resumed.

Word had gone forth that there was something doing on thirty-five, and from the chattering emerged many motor cars belonging to neighboring lease owners, and even the members of a nearby casing crew.

Supper was a jumpy meal, and nobody had much to say. Allie Briskow, least of all. She was silent, intense; she curiously refused Buddy's offer to send her home, and when the meal was over she followed Gray back to the derrick.

Buddy Briskow was running the rig, and the dexterity with which he handled brake and control rod gave him pride. He had sent his sister on a bench out of the way, where she was protected from the drizzle, and he felt her eyes upon him. It gave him a sense of importance to have Allie watching him at such a crisis; he wished his parents were with her.

He eased the brake and the massive buller slid into the casing as a heavy steel slips into the breach of a cannon. As he further released his pressure, the cable began to pay, serpentlike from the drum. Buddy turned a grin at Allie. She smiled back at him faintly. Some lightning-like change in her expression, or perhaps some mental sense of the unworldly warning that all was not as it should be, and he jerked his head back to attention.

During that moment of inattention the buller had struck. Perhaps five hundred feet below, friction had checked its plunge, and meanwhile the velvet-running drum, spinning

"It's a gasser, Mr. Gray! Biggest I ever seen."

"Gus?" the latter mumbled, indistinctly. "Isn't there any—oil?" His words were almost like a whisper because of the noise.

"Not yet. May be later. Say, she's a holler, ain't she? I'll bet she's makin' twenty million feet—"

"Gasser's no good."

"Can't tell yet. We gotta shut her down easy so she don't blow the casing out—"

"Ruddy was still breathless, but he plunged out the door and back into that sea of sound."

With a tragic intensity akin to wildness, Gray stared up into Allie Briskow's face. "Worthless, eh?" And he told me ten thousand barrels."

His handiwork head and tried vainly to collect his wits. "What's matter?" he queried, dazedly. "Everything's whirling—"

"You had an accident, but it's all right; all right—No, no! Please lie still."

"Turning wild, eh? That's what hurts my head so. Blown the casing out—"

"Bad, isn't it? Sometimes they run wild for weeks, years—"

"Everything." He tried again to rise, then hesitated, querulously. "Got to get oil in this well. I've got to! Last chance, Allie. Got to get ten thousand barrels!"

"Please! You mustn't—"

Allie had her strong hands upon his shoulders; she was arguing firmly but as gently as possible under the circumstances, when something occurred so extraordinary, so unexpected, as to paralyze her.

Of a sudden the interior of the dimly, canvas-roofed shack was illuminated as if by a searchlight, and she turned her head to see that the whole out-of-doors was visible and that the night itself had turned into day.

With a cry that died weakly amid the chaos of sound heading over her, the girl ran to the window and looked out. What she beheld was a nightmare scene. The well was afire. It had exploded into flame.

Allie tore her eyes away from the spectacle finally. She turned back to the bed, then she halted, for it was empty. The door, still ajar from Buddy's headlong exit, informed her whence her patient had gone, and she flew after him.

She found him not half a dozen paces away. In fact, she stumbled over his prostrate body. With an amazing strength, she gathered him into her arms, then staggered him back to his couch, and as she strained him to herself she loudly called his name.

TOMMY GIBBONS TURNS TO THE BIG FELLOWS

BY BOB DORMAN
NEA Service Writer

SHELBY, MO., June 12—Jumping into New York fight off the bat gave Gibbons a big thrill.

He did a lot of gazing at the tall buildings before he got into the ring, but it evidently didn't hurt his fighting any.

His first opponent in Gotham was Tommy Nelson. Gibbons knocked him out in one round.

That was Dec. 7, 1912. Tommy got $150 for his end.

Little did he dream then that some day he would return to New York to fight for some of his biggest purses.

Eddy Reddy First Boss
His next fight was April 22, 1913, with Tommy Bergin. Gibbons had scaled down from 164 pounds to 155 pounds since his bout with Nelson.

Eddy Reddy, Jack's brother, was Tommy Gibbons' first manager. But Brother Mike always was with him and was in his corner.

Then came a scrap with Al Worgin up in Hudson, Wis. The place seated about 1300. They packed it close to 4000. The aisles were so jammed Tommy literally had to walk over the crowd's shoulders to get into the ring.

He scored a knockout in four rounds. His prize money totaled $400.

After this Tommy turned his attention to the big fellows.

Breaks Mike's Jaw
On Feb. 9, 1914, he went into the ring with George (Knockout) Brown. Brown was going good then. But Gibbons was in 10 rounds. That was his hardest and first real fight.

A few days later he took on Billy Miske. Again he won in 10 rounds. And he broke Miske's jaw.

Brown wanted to fight him again. They were matched to go at Madison, Wis. "Knockout" got a worse beating than the first time.

Then Tommy fought Buck Cronse on May 22. He swears he'll never forget that fight.

Buck Sure Had Wallop
"Buck hit me the hardest I've ever

Glover at Gibbons's club. It took him six rounds to put Billy to sleep.

Kearns Guessed Wrong
Tommy admits he was just a rough fighter then and didn't know just why he did things.

Feb. 2, 1915, he was matched with one of Jack Kearns' fighters, Billy Murray. Kearns boasted Tommy Gibbons was going to get flattened up properly. A lot of folks believed him.

Murray struck out a back hand blow, cutting Gibbons' lip open. That was the first mark Tommy ever received in the ring. Mike was worried when he started to bleed so much. But Tommy told him it wasn't bad and kept right on going. Kearns' fighter didn't knock him out. Ten rounds and Tommy had convinced folks he had outpointed Murray.

On July 12, he tackled Billy Miske again and outpointed him. It was frightfully hot and neither put on such a good fight.

Tommy had heard a lot about Harry Greb. Harry wanted to meet Mike's brother. He put the chance to try it Nov. 12.

But Greb had a surprise coming to him—from Mike's brother.

NEW RACE TRACK NEAR GREENUP TO OPEN AUGUST 25

LEXINGTON, KY., June 12—J. O. Keene, general manager of Raceland, the new race course of the Tristate Fair and Racing Association, which is being completed near Greenup, today said that he will make application to the Kentucky State Racing Commission at its meeting next Thursday at Linton for the 19 days, beginning Saturday, August 25, and ending Saturday, September 25, for the first race meeting at the new plant.

"There now are three crews working on the new highway from Russell down to and past Raceland to Greenup," said General Manager Keene, "and we have assurance of the State Road Department that the road will be entirely completed all the way from Raceland to Ashland by August 1."

"Our grandstand steel erection is about two-thirds completed and the pouring of the concrete floors and risers will begin Monday morning. The grandstand will be finished in every detail by August 15, and we will have then ten days in which to dress up the grounds and make everything comfortable for the patrons of racing who will flock to Raceland in great numbers, for our plant is largely owned by the people of that section, and they are proud of it and eager for racing."

"Our grandstand steel erection is about completed and the course is now being put in shape for racing," said George Horne, who built it, "and we have assurance of the State Road Department that the road will be entirely completed all the way from Raceland to Ashland by August 1."

L. E. Silver Leases Building For West End Branch Store

L. E. SILVER

A lease was closed late Monday where the Silver Furniture Co. secures the Reilly building located at 524-526 Second street for a period of ten years.

The building which is now occupied by the Peerless City Garage operated by Reilly Brothers, is a three story building with one hundred foot frontage on Second street and running back 220 feet. Possession will be given the lessee at once and a remainder of the building will immediately follow.

Mr. Silver of the Silver Furniture company, stated last night that his rapidly increasing business made it necessary for expansion and that the Second street building would be completely remodeled. The first floor would be fitted up as a display and sales room and operated as a branch of the main store located at 613 Chilliade street. The second and third floors of the building will be used for a warehouse and also a modern workshop and upholstery department.

"We have been compelled to vacate our warehouse on Gallia street and we will shortly give up our warehouse at Tenth and Court and it is our plan to centralize all our warehouse stock in the new location on Second street," said Mr. Silver. "The opening of a branch store in the west end, for the convenience of our west side and Kentucky friends has been under consideration for some time, and we feel fortunate in being able to secure this building," continued Mr. Silver. "The opening of the branch store will in no way effect the main store on Chilliade street. It is just the enlarging of our plant made possible by the success of our business since opening here last November."

Contracts for the remodeling of the building are provided for in the terms of the lease and will be started at once. The branch store will be opened about July 1st.

Reilly Bros. stated last night that they had no definite plans as to where they would secure new quarters, but that their garage business would be continued and temporary quarters secured within the next few days.

The deal was engineered by the W. W. Weigler Co.

Under-Clubbing Must Be Avoided

By MIKE BRADY
Western Open Champion
A great many golfers, especially the young and vigorous, develop early the habit of under-clubbing.

They take a maslin niblick, with a full swing, where they ought to take a maslin with a half to three-quarters swing, or a maslin where they should take a light iron, or a light iron where they should use a midiron, and so on up the line.

It is a big mistake, for the reason that it is perfectly obvious that a half swing, with the club suited to the distance, is far more apt to be accurate than over-swinging with the club that is not suited to the distance called for.

Not only is under-clubbing a bad habit but it is a habit more too easy to overcome. Some of the best golfers in the game, amateur and professional, have learned the lesson of playing well within themselves and not pressing for distance with one club when another will do the deed more easily.

If you will notice the topnotchers playing a hole against the wind, you frequently will see them use a driving iron on a hole where they normally would use a midiron and where they could still get home with the midiron by pressing the shot.

I have known instances where a golfer had a fatiguing trip to a course, felt tired and all the way around made a point of over-clubbing himself practically all the way around, in order to conserve his strength, and come about as well as he could when fresh and strong, using the clubs ordinarily suited to the distances.

Gene Sarazen, during his tour last winter, adopted the plan of frequently resorting to a spum where he previously would have used an iron, for just the reasons above mentioned.

Don't make the mistake of using an iron just because your playing companion does so, when the shot for you calls for wood.

Peevish Babies

Frequently mothers are worried because baby is fretful and peevish and think the baby is sick, which doctors tell us is frequently caused because a safety has become loosened or their tiny shoes are binding. For very young babies I can give you something entirely new in a padded soft sole with a nice broad strap across the instep,—in black, white and ecru. For the little older ones I have the famous Sinbac line of first step. Which ever one is practical and necessary we will fit them. Better look these over these hot days and have your baby comfortable.

Dempsey And Gibbons To Tell Times Fight Fans About Their Training; Why They Won Or Lost

Of course the boxing fans of this man's town, as well as hundreds of others in all parts of the United States are showing much interest in the Dempsey-Gibbons championship fight to be staged in Shelby, Montana, Wednesday, July 4.

It will be one of the real scraps of the boxing era as the principals are real fighters. In order that the fans may get news direct from the training camps of both boxers, The Times has arranged to publish a series of articles written by Gibbons and Dempsey.

They will be straightforward accounts from two men, tellingly in earnest—the best forecast of the fight obtainable from any source on earth.

These articles written by two of the greatest boxers in the ring today will put you in touch with every move made by them in their training camp. They will give you the whole atmosphere of the training camps and the fight itself.

Immediately following the fight each fighter will write his own story of the contest. He will give his own thoughts, emotions and tactics, and his own reasons why he lost or won.

These stories no doubt will be very colorful and interesting and no doubt will be widely read and appreciated by Times readers.

WATCH FOR THESE STORIES WRITTEN FOR THE TIMES BY CHAMPION JACK DEMPSEY AND TOMMY GIBBONS, WHO SEEK TO UNCROWN JACK.

Deplores Shifting Of Law Enforcement To Federal Office

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Shifting from the states to the federal government of the work and responsibility of law enforcement was deplored by John W. H. Crim, assistant United States attorney general, in an address here today before the Williamsburg and Mary College Alumni Association.

"Crime and criminals and hoodlums in the commercial law also were discussed by Mr. Crim who has charged criminal law enforcement for the government."

"On the Canadian border, on the Atlantic ocean, on the Gulf of Mexico, on the Pacific ocean, the belt around the entire United States, we have a veritable 'no man's land' where bootlegging, graft, place, smuggling and murder are committed in a degree of deliberation and skillfully organized infamy which is without parallel in American history," said Mr. Crim.

"In Logan and Mingo counties, West Virginia, in Williamson county, Illinois, in Osage county, Oklahoma, in Morehouse Parish, Louisiana and other places we have had during the past two years demonstrations of business, which to say the least, crosses the solicitude of every thoughtful citizen."

"For many years there has been a powerful current of political opinion flowing throughout our society, denaturalizing local government under authority of the state and saddling police responsibility on the federal government, that it is essentially the function of local government. Illogical and inconsistent with our customs, our traditions and years of government, this clamoring for congress to invade state sovereignty, is impairing the fundamentals on which the American civilization rests."

"The department of justice is still staggering under the load imposed by such police laws. The federal courts are so congested with litigation of this nature that years will be required to clear their dockets."

NEW YORK, June 12.—Cleveland defeated New York in a hotly contested game Monday by the score of 4 to 3. Sherrod Smith, formerly of the Brooklyn Nationals, started his first game of the season and he had the better of Pennock, the local left hander. Ruth was intentionally passed four times after he hit a double in his first time up. After he was walked in the seventh, Pipp drove in New York's tying run with a single. Cleveland then won in the eighth on Speaker's double, an infield out and Connolly's sacrifice fly. The score:

O, YE WISE JUDGES

NEW HAMPSHIRE has a supreme court that deserves to have its name and fame embalmed so that future generations, seeing and remembering, may be able to hold their legislators to something near right and justice.

This tribunal has just writ it down that a tax that is disproportionate, or is graded according to certain amounts, merely arbitrary, is unconstitutional and therefore void.

Let us explain, so that even the most careless can understand the vital and simple principle here laid down, but violated by all the tax leviers. The body that furnishes the tax-payers the ways of getting the money is constantly devising more means of raising it. One method is to add a new tax upon death, imposing levy upon the estate which one by frugality and industry has accumulated. This levy is ordinarily fixed so as to exact a percentage according to the size of the estate. Thus, for example, it may be five percent upon an estate of $5,000 and eight percent upon one of $10,000. These may not be the exact proportion, but the larger the estate the larger the percentage it must pay; in other words the tax is graded, made higher the greater the property the dead man leaves behind him.

The constitution guarantees that all taxes must be levied equally, that is each one shall pay accordingly in proportion to what he owns and that means, if it means anything at all that he shall not be penalized because he has had the ability to earn more than his neighbor. A disproportionate, or a graded tax is not equal, it therefore is illegal and unjust, says the court.

Some day other courts are going to have the good sense to say the same thing.

THE FLEECED LAMBS

BROKERAGE firms on the New York curb are falling in to the receivers' hands like leaves dropping from the trees.

This indicates that the ducks and geese have been flocking into the stock market and have got beautifully picked, as the failures run up anywhere from a few hundred thousands to many millions.

The curb market is somewhat different from the stock exchange, where the lambs go to be sheared, but the picking is every bit as clean as the shearing. On the curb they deal in any old sort of stock, but on the exchange only listed, the distinction being that a listed stock is the shares of an established and operating company, at least supposed to be, while the curb handles anything whatsoever, with an especially appetite for oils and speculative stuff.

Firms, dealing in either, ought to be solid and prosperous, but many are not because they go to speculating on their own account.

The crash of last week showed liabilities in the neighborhood of thirty millions and it was revealed that it was the general practice among the bankrupt brokers to use both the money and the stocks of their customers for themselves, whenever they got pinched.

Of course, we might moralize upon the folly of speculating, point out the certainty that while dizzy fortunes are sometimes made on the curb, the one story is that a thousand dollars are eventually lost where one is made, and, the proportion is probably greater than that. There is nothing, however, to be accomplished by printing a moral. People will gamble, restrain them one way, and they break out in another.

The shipping board failed to take our sage advice and so let the fellow that offered a billion for its junk ships get away. The tax-payers will pay several times that much for them before they finally are consigned to the scrap heap.

Freedom moves onward its wonders to perform. An Irish tenant farmer, named Barney Irish, has just won the Epsom Derby, England's greatest racing event, and his horse was ridden by an Irish lad, Jockey Donoghue. Incidentally, a poor Irishwoman, a worker in a mill, won first prize, about $350,000 in the pool on the race.

Didn't we tell you Uncle Sam could do it best by himself? Since Governor Smith signed the repeal of New York's liquor laws, federal service-men have looked up one of the famous booze joints of New York City, for a year, and over in Brooklyn they have captured every one of a gang of whiskey runners, who had $25,000,000 of bogus revenue stamps on hand.

This headline in a New York paper bothered us for a time: "Puttomeuchfaithinvetranpitcher." Can you make it out?

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTIRE

NEW YORK, June 12—Song writers have completed plans for their new club building which is to be called Tin Pan Hall. There will be a sound proof room fitted up with a battery of pianos for the use of members.

There will be 312 in the club which gives an idea of the number of successful writers of songs there are. Just as almost everyone takes a fling at play writing some time in his life so do they try to write a song, yet only 312 stand out in the profession. The majority of these are attached to composing staffs of music publishing houses or are retained exclusively by musical comedy producers. While there are a few exceptions, Tin Pan Alley declares the professional life of a song writer is about five years.

There is scarcely any flub-dubbers about song writers. They are bing-bango young men who have little illusion about their art. Indeed they call themselves "ivory benders." Any number of them have never taken a music lesson in their lives. One of the most successful fashion designers of popular entertainments composes his tunes on a zither. Those who are able to play the piano well add largely to incomes by occasional excursions into vaudeville.

They will tell you frankly that many of the best selling hits are boldly swiped from old masters and jazzed up in the syncretistic style of the day.

Tin Pan Hall will be one of the finest small clubs in the city. There will be a billiard room, swimming pool and a few living quarters and, as an ironical touch, a dining room that will not permit music with meals.

The relentless tearing down and building up of Manhattan offers blobs of drama. Entire blocks are razed in a week and new buildings arise almost overnight. In my section of the city three squares have been entirely remade in three years.

A department store amalgamation secured all buildings but one on a block in upper Fifth Avenue. The one building was an antiquated residence in the last stages of decay and the new structure loomed it in on all sides. At the last moment, the owners changed their minds and sold, a family moved out and the residence was down in four days. The average life of a hotel in New York is said to be 15 years. At the end of that period it is either made over or torn down for a new structure.

A unique experiment to exploit the four flush. There is a building on Fifth Avenue that will rent a furnished apartment for a week or a month. The renters are those who as a rule have small apartments in less aristocratic sections but who want to impress visitors who come to visit from out of town.

This appears a sort of real estate column today. An apartment building for bachelors on East Sixty-Second street offers a novelty in illuminated keyholes. By pressing a button, a key ray of light spots from the keyhole. For some bachelors, it is quite handy.

And here is a note of cheer in a real estate advertisement. It reads: "Burglar proof cellars."

There is a telegraph editor on a New York newspaper who has never been seen with his hat off. He wears a derby year in and out and is not bald. He says he cannot think well with his hat off.

LAMENT

Rest, rest in the silence;
Suffer not fear, but sleep,
Resting for me is ended;
(Oh, mothers who pray and weep.)

Strange, how the world was cradled
Once in your narrow nest;
Strange how the world lies ended
In the quiet hands of your breast.

And strange—how empty dreams are,
I mind a night by the sea,
When I laughed and cried to the darkness
That you are coming to me.

And the stars hung still in their places
Till the silence trembled and beat,
And only the sea gave a weary cry
As it flung itself at my feet.

Silver Heels

Artie—"Miss Oldgirl says that she has only just now reached the marriageable age."
Ted—"She's above us! Never mention Rip Van Winkle to me again!"

A Chicken Lover

Mr. Cane—"Are you partial to the hen?"
Bill—"Sure am! I has um boiled for breakfast, fried for dinner, and I dance with a chicken all evening. An elephant can't beat that record for affectionate regard."

A Coming Railroad Man

"Augh—waugh—gr-r-r!"
It was the baby, and he had made similar remarks steadily for the last hour. Mr. Appel's hair—what was left of it—stood on end.

"Gee—ah—ah—waa—waa—grr—r!" remarked the baby lustily, while the people living across the way rose from their beds and closed the windows ostentatiously.

Mr. Appel ground his teeth. "To think," he murmured wearily, "that I should have lived to become the father of a train announcer!"—Arkansas Utility News.

Why She Hated Him

A young woman who had left her husband, on parading of his sudden death, broke into a spasm of grief. "Oh, my dear," exclaimed her friend, "Why are you crying. Didn't you say you hated him and never wanted to see him again?"

"I hate him more now," wailed the widow. "There won't be any divorce or alimony."

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

A BARGAIN

By Berton Braley

A LITTLE bird sat on my window sill
And trilled away as a bird will trill,
And he cocked at me such a knowing eye
That I said, "I'll talk to this little guy."

So I asked, "Oh bird, do you think it pays
To give up a bachelor's easy ways,
For the sake of a girl? Is the price too steep?"

"Cheep!" said the little bird. "Cheep! Cheep! Cheep!"

"BUT think what it means, oh bird," I cried,
To take to my bosom a blushing bride,
Though love is joyous and dear and sweet,
The fondest lovers, at times, must eat.

And the cost of renting a cozy nook
Is hard on a poor man's pocketbook.
Won't the cost be high for the jays I reap?"

"Cheep!" said the little bird. "Cheep! Cheep! Cheep!"

"SO you think," I said, "that the toil and fret,
The woes and worries that must be met
In having a home and a family,
Won't prove too heavy a load for me?"

If I give up freedom, with which I'm blest,
For the sake of a mate and a little nest,
You think it's worth it? I'll take your word.

You look to me like a suppliant bird,
Is the price too great? Ere I get in deep,
Is it worth the cost, for it costs a heap?"

"Cheep!" said the little bird. "Cheep! Cheep! Cheep!"

Considerable Division

"Does your teacher teach you a lot?" I inquired of a small boy who had just started to school.
"Oh, I don't know," he answered, seriously. "We have to divide up what she tells us with an awful lot of children."—Chicago Tribune.

Getting His Bearings

"When you leave I hope you will say a good word for our hotel, sir?"
"Certainly," replied the guest who had been wandering around in a fog for a week. "Best place I ever stopped—decidedly. By the way," continued the guest, with a mysterious air, "would you mind giving me a little information?"
"Of course not."
"What's the name of this hotel and furthermore, what's the name of this town?"—Birmingham Age-Herald.
